

DANIEL affirms its vision of design through two new products

DANIEL, the Paris based brand founded by Etienne Delorme and launched in 2018, is coming to Milan for the second time. They are back with two additional pieces and the collection that was on pre-order before, now available for sale.

This year's exhibition will be happening at the Ventura Future event, in the heart of the Fuorisalone design district Tortona. The first collection, which includes Ferréol Babin's iconic table lamp "Plateau" will be available for retailers and interior designers to discover from 9 until 14 April at BASE Milano.

After a year and a half of development DANIEL is ready to partner up and sell its products to the public. And for the occasion of Ventura Future, they bring two new projects that are in the making.

Belgian encounters

For its novelties, DANIEL has opted to explore Belgian talent. In the search for harmonious interiors to shine noiselessly, Belgium seems to have somewhat of a knack to impress through simplicity.

Renaud Meunier is one of those discoveries, with his sensitive eye for detail and shape. Having sculpted the original form of the vase Ô by hand, he has managed to create a unique piece that stands out, inspired by the curves of ancient metal gourds. The sensual lines of the piece and the porcelain material give it a poetic feel, an effortless elegance that unmistakably earned its spot in the collection.

First piece of furniture

The shelf Albatross is a creation by designer-craftsman Frédéric Richard. He has gradually extracted elements of his drawings to keep only what to him, constitutes the soul of this piece. You'll notice a pursuit of lightness, which always is a result of an intense and elaborate process more than we sometimes care to think.

“Not only are we proud to present this shelf because it is an expression of our belief in quality assembly, but it is the first piece of furniture amongst a collection of designer objects for everyday ceremony, moving towards a collection of designer furniture.”
