Rexa Design launch in Milan the new showroom in partnership with Mo.1950

Rexa thinks about the bathroom as a complete concept: from furniture to accessories that make it unique, from bathtubs to wall coverings that integrate perfectly to create an ambiance where to feel good, specially made to chilling and escape from the daily routine. A place where the physical and visual well-being of the person is the goal of a careful research for functional solutions and attention to details.

The artisanal approach, the deep knowledge of materials, the sharing and the experience gained over the years, allow us to create a relationship with the designer in order to decline ideas and technical solutions in truly unique design projects. The refined study of the materials used like Corian, clays, mortars, stones ... makes us perceive the sensoriality of the place where we're living and combine the extraordinary possibility to adapt it according to every special need, modifying dimensions, proportions, shapes and colours to finally reach our personal taste.

A world of sensoriality and personalization that also opens up to other parts of the house. The only limit is our own imagination.
