Elisa Muliere

The Artist

Elisa Muliere (Tortona, 1981) is a trans-disciplinary visual artist based in Bologna, Italy. Her creativity takes form in works on canvas and on paper as well as other forms of research, such as installations, sculptures, videos and editorial projects. Bodily energy, responsiveness and immediacy are at the center of her works aimed at revealing the non - linear nature of human thought.

Her practice is marked by different phases, where a first act, deeply instinctive and spontaneous, is followed by moments of reorganization and finalization of the work, looking for correspondence or contrast between signs, structures, and materials. Muliere's work bases its language on an intimate and personal symbolism, in which individual specific meanings are related with one another to create an imaginative narration and to give shape to an architecture of universal evasion.

Since 2011 Muliere has taken part in numerous solo and collective exhibitions, both in Italy and abroad.
