The feature wall is decorated with a tillable custom-made pattern collected from authentic Najdi buildings, the Ceiling is made of wood fixed to be like the old buildings ceiling, and finally the floor is covered with travertine marble as a natural material to enhance the overall environment. The counter of the reception is made of massive natural Riyadh Stone in two shapes, mountain cut, and honed to evoke both new and old treating techniques of stone. Brushed brass is used in several parts in this design like table base, window frame, table lights, and pots as one of the oldest materials to be used. The chandelier is designed using basic shapes particularly a square shape in wood with Edison bulbs to simulate old lanterns and gas lighting. Najdi custom-made carpet is used under both of the seating areas in parallel with the cushions making the best match and adding more value to the design .
